Engaging your community

Developed by Buddle, this workshop explores strategies for building stronger connections within your local community

The need

This workshop explores the principles and benefits of community engagement, helping organisations build stronger connections with the people they serve. Learners will assess their current relationship with their local community, identify opportunities for deeper engagement, and develop practical strategies to strengthen these connections.

Through discussion and reflection, attendees will map out their community landscape, explore their organisation's role within it, and devise action plans to foster meaningful interactions that support both their goals and the wider community's needs.

Key features

- Establish what your club or organisation's community looks like.
- Investigate the opportunities for your club or organisation and the community to connect better.
- Plan ways for your club or organisation to connect better with the community.
