

Positive experiences for all people

Developed by Buddle, this workshop uses real-life examples to explore your current activity offerings, helping you identify meaningful changes to better meet the needs of existing and new members.

The need

This workshop focuses on enhancing participant experiences by exploring what makes an activity truly engaging and fulfilling. Learners will review their current offerings, reflect on how well they meet the needs of their club or organisation, and identify actionable steps to create a more inclusive and enjoyable environment. Through discussion and practical exercises, learners will consider ways to measure engagement, amplify voices within their organisation, and design strategies to foster meaningful and positive experiences for all.

Key features

- Reflect on how well your current activity offer meets the needs of the people in your club or organisation.
- Consider ways to measure positive experience including how to give people in your club or organisation a voice.
- Design ways to enhance positive experience for the people in your club or organisation.
